Southwest Denver Artist Open Studios Returns October 26th

Bear Valley Library Joins as New Venue to Support Local Artists

Denver, CO – The Harvey Park Community Organization (HPCO) is proud to present the Southwest Denver Artist Open Studios, on Saturday, October 26th, from 12 PM to 3 PM. This year's event will feature an exciting addition—Bear Valley Library will serve as a venue for artists to showcase their work in both the downstairs lobby and upstairs study rooms. The library has generously offered its space to artists who do not have their own studios or whose studios aren't within walking/biking distance from Harvey Park.

The Southwest Denver Artist Open Studios is a free event designed to foster local engagement with the arts. Visitors are invited to explore artist studios and community venues across Harvey Park and Bear Valley, featuring a wide range of art from paintings to sculptures and mixed media. With the addition of Bear Valley Library as a venue, artists now have a public space to display their work and connect with neighbors.

Participating artists include:

- Sean Barragan
- Nicole Korbe
- Jayla Casias
- Angie Hiss
- Nicole Korbe
- Anthony Mario Camera

- Cody J Rixse
- Lonn Robinson
- Jordan Salisbury
- Phil Schaefer
- Shokai Sinclair
- Katie Taft
- Tran & Josh Wills

In addition, starting point booths will be available at both Bear Valley Library and the Harvey Park Recreation Center, providing visitors with printed maps to guide them through the open studios and information about HPCO's work in the community. Visitors can learn more about HPCO's initiatives while meeting local artists and exploring their creative spaces.

Event Highlights:

- Explore Artist Studios: Visit local artists' studios, meet the creators, and learn about their work.
- Bear Valley Library as a Venue: Artists without studio space will showcase their work in the library's downstairs lobby and upstairs study rooms.
- Community Starting Points: Visitors can pick up maps and learn more about HPCO at booths at Bear Valley Library and Harvey Park Recreation Center.
